Paws With a Cause – Foster Puppies Need Homes Transcript of Video (60 second)

VIDEO	AUDIO
A man is on a couch in a living room setting. His service dog is next to him.
Camera zooms closer to the man and his dog.	MAN: "I have two to three seizures a day. Before I had my service dog, I'd get scared. I had no way to call for help because I couldn't get to my phone."
Man pets the dog. Camera pans into the dog.	MAN: "Now, I've got Bud, my service dog. He gets the phone if I need it. He even comforts me by sitting at my side."
New scene. A woman is surrounded by puppies. She is outside and kennels are in the background.	WOMAN: "Service dogs like Bud begin their training in a foster home. Families like yours could give these puppies love and attention to make them ready to help others."
New scene. A family is in a backyard (Smith family). There is a father, mother, and two children playing with a puppy.	VOICE OF WOMAN: "Families like the Smiths have a puppy to play with until the puppy is old enough for service training."
Camera zooms into children, one boy and one girl, who are playing tug-of-war with the puppy.	GIRL: "I love having a puppy! My favorite thing to play is tug-of-war."
Camera zooms out to the whole backyard. The camera is still focused on the children and parents interacting with the puppy.	VOICE OF WOMAN: "One hundred and fifty foster homes like this one are still needed. Your family can help others with disabilities by fostering a Paws With a Cause puppy."
